4. Background

   - Start with an introduction possibly with an inclusive statement that most members can agree on.
   - State your objective for the resolution.
   - If needed, define key terms of the resolution (for example, members with oil palm plantation operations will cover other sectors that own and manage oil palm plantations other than grower members).
   - Identify problem statements based on the following:
     - Identify requirements or resolutions that already exist. Identify what problems still exist since the passing of the aforementioned resolutions and/or implementation of the requirements. Try to determine to what extent the targeted problems have been solved. Identify what changes and/or improvements have occurred since the implementation of the resolution and/or requirements, or
     - Identify new problems that are not related to the above (i), or
     - Identify administrative changes that are required to ensure key documents (e.g. Statutes, Code of Conduct, etc.) are up to date.
